The best of glass technology show in Asia Pacific

Glasstech Asia 2010 brings Asia Pacific glass market closer to the world. With new territories and cutting-edge global trends to experience, Glasstech Asia continues to be a formidable platform of new business exchange and technology source for both key and aspiring industry players in the region. Now on its 8th presentation, Glasstech Asia 2010 is taking its commitment several steps farther - Asia Pacific's glass technology event has arrived.

Top 5 Event Highlights

Showcase of the most state-of-the-art technology and its novel applications from all over the world

Being the most preferred platform for new product and equipment launches, Glasstech Asia 2010 brings under one roof a debut of various innovations to the Asian Market. This opportunity draws in extensive and inevitable attention from key trade practitioners of the region to attend and witness live product demonstrations while physically creating a more interactive environment for both the buyers and sellers.

Wider spectrum of business activities with the introduction of two high-growth glass industry sectors under Solartech Asia 2010 and Glass Accessories Asia 2010

The focus on solar technology in the industry creates tremendous potentials to the glass business. More and more players are casting their eyes on the long-term implications of using productive glass as a unique form of sustainable design and structure. Being the premier glass show in Asia to present solar technology, Glasstech Asia 2010 is setting the trend and bringing the best of the glass world to the region.

Powerful series of seminars on world's best practices

Information remains crucial in decision-making. Glasstech Asia 2010 gathers together industry voices to present and discuss relevant topics that serve useful in facing the challenging times.

Expansion to wider audience through Glasstech Asia's enhanced hosted buyers programme

With tightly focused profiles and highly targeted audiences, Glasstech Asia 2010 is creating value for each and every customer. The new strengths of the event's hosted buyers programme explore better system of matching the needs of buyers and suppliers more closely, assuring quality attendance to the event.

Strategic location for higher business efficiency and visitor attendance

Glasstech Asia 2010 encourages fast market penetration by reaching out to large proportion of the market while making their participation more convenient and accessible. This year's venue opens up to more business opportunities waiting to be tapped and explored.
